STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The necessity for a separate University for the Telugu country has been discussed for more than a decade. Apart from the special claims of the Andhra area to have a University of its own, it has long been recognised that the Madras University cannot continue adequately to serve the needs in higher education of the whole of South India. The Madras University Act of 1923 fore-shadowed the gradual development of new Universities at various convenient centres in the Presidency. The Native States in South India were perhaps the first to realise the necessity for separate Universities. The Mysore University led the way and was followed by the Odisha University at Hyderabad, and the Transvaal Government have recently published the report of their University Committee.

The Madras University had in the colleges last year nearly fifteen thousand students. The difficulty of one authority examining and supervising the work of so large a body of students is obvious and constitutes a primary reason for developing as early as possible new Universities in this Presidency. The number of pupils reading in all classes of institutions in the Telugu districts represents approximately five-twelfths of the total number of pupils reading in the Madras Presidency, and about two thousand students are reading in colleges in the Telugu country. In addition to this, over nine hundred students from the Telugu districts are reading in colleges in the City of Madras. It is, therefore, clear that on the ground of numbers alone a University for the Telugu country is both necessary and practicable.

There are, however, other reasons which have prompted the public of the Andhra districts to agitate for a separate University. These districts represent a convenient linguistic unit and are, therefore, peculiarly favourable situated from the point of view of controlling and developing their own higher educational system. In particular, it has long been the desire of the Andhra districts to give greater opportunities for the expansion of education through the medium of their own vernacular.

The colleges in the Telugu districts have felt, just as the colleges in Mysore and Transvaal have felt, the disabilities of their students who have been unable to enjoy the benefits either of advanced educational courses, which have been mainly concentrated at Madras, or of the University Library or of the instruction given by the permanent teaching staff of the Madras University. It has further been felt that the colleges in the Telugu country have not been sufficiently represented on the authorities of the Madras University. The fact that much of the executive work of the University must necessarily be done by representatives resident at the headquarters of the University is a further argument for having a separate University organization for the colleges in this area.

One essential reason for the establishment of the Andhra University is that up to the present, there have been in the Telugu districts no colleges either conducting research work or providing for business courses. It is clearly then that better opportunity for post-graduate study should be given to the students residing in the Telugu country. The institution of a new Telugu University will give the necessary stimulus to advanced courses of study and research work. From the economic point of view also this is important. In the past many poor students of the Telugu districts have been prevented from obtaining instruction in advanced Arts and Science courses and in professional and technical subjects owing to the great expense involved by attendance at colleges outside the limits of the Telugu country.

For some time past also the feeling has been growing that the University courses in South India have not been sufficiently related to the industries of this Presidency. A special feature of the new University will therefore be the provision of courses of instruction in scientific, technical and technological subjects. One of the gravest problems with which administrators are faced in India to-day is the problem of unemployment amongst the educated portion of this country. In recent years a far larger number of graduates in arts have been entering life than the existing standards of occupation have been able to absorb. It is, therefore, an aim of the new University to organize a scheme of technical studies which will have a direct relationship to the industries of the Telugu country and to the possible careers open to the graduates or diploma-holders of the University. In this connection, the Bill provides for the establishment of a college for technical and scientific studies and also for a University Employment Bureau, which will be able, among other things, to investigate the problem of unemployment and make recommendations to the University, thus keeping the University in direct contact with the needs and demands of modern Indian industrial life.

It has been admitted by almost all modern educational experts, both in India and elsewhere, that the ideal type of University which can best foster high scholarship and at the same time develop character is the unitary type of University. Unfortunately, the enormous extent of territory comprising the Telugu districts renders a single unitary Telugu University impracticable. The Andhra University Bill, therefore, seeks to establish an affiliating University, but it also aims at the ultimate establishment of more than one unitary and residential University for the Telugu area. The Bill provides for the concentration of first-grade and honours colleges at certain notified centres. This concentration will make it possible for many of the students of the new University to enjoy most of the privileges that students enjoy in a unitary University. It will also prevent the unnecessary repetition of advanced courses of study in many scattered colleges. It will cause the coming together of large numbers of students and teachers and will give an opportunity for a real corporate and residential life to develop, and it will, moreover, represent a definite step forward towards the possibility of ultimately founding unitary Universities at select centres in the Telugu country. Concentration of energies will further result in the highest possible standards of instruction and equipment. It is thus the aim of the Bill to encourage, as far as possible within the limitations of an affluous University, the gradual development of a full social academic and corporate University life as never there was before in the Andhra districts. In its endeavour to lay emphasis on the necessity of the authorities realising the importance of the social life of the students in the University, the Bill also makes special provision for the institution of students' unions controlled and financed by the University.

The Bill contemplates the possibility of a rapid development in the study of Telugu and in the use of the vernacular as the medium of instruction and examination. It must, however, be noted that the latter can only follow a radical change in the school system. In this connection, the Bill provides for the prescribing by the University of an entrance examination controlled by the University and for the establishment of a Publication Bureau. The main function of the Publication Bureau, if established, will be the supervision of the production of suitable text-books in the vernacular.

The administration of the University will be controlled by a Senate and an Academic Council. All colleges in the University will be affiliated colleges and will have an equal status in the University. No provision has, therefore, been made for a separate University authority to represent the needs and interests of the affiliated colleges. In the Senate special representation has been given to the Ceded districts. The Ceded districts are in the peculiar position of having only one college for four districts and until such time as the Ceded districts attain a University of their own, their special interests must be adequately protected. It is hoped that within a short time from the commencement of the Bill and in accordance with its provisions, the University will itself manage colleges, hostels and research institutions. It is also hoped that the new Andhra University, as shaped by this Bill, will meet the needs and aspirations of all sections of the Andhra country and that it may, by promoting scholarship and research, by fostering high ideals of citizenship and by influencing the intellectual and social life of the people of the area, fulfil the proper function of a University in the life of a community.

NOTES ON CLAUSES.

The principal clauses in the Bill are noticed below :—

CHAPTER I.

Clause 1 (2) and (3).—The Local Government will decide to which areas the Act shall apply and from what date it shall come into force.

Clause 3 (a), (b), (c) and (d).—All colleges will be affiliated colleges. University colleges will make provision for honours and post-graduate courses. Other colleges will make provision for courses of study qualifying students for admission to the examinations for the ordinary degree in Arts or Science, or for admission to the intermediate examination, or for admission to the examinations for degrees or diplomas in professional, technical and technological subjects.

CHAPTER II.

Clause 4.—The powers of the University are defined. The powers include the instituting of Professorships, Readerships and Lecturerships and the institution and maintenance of a Publication Bureau, an Employment Bureau and Students' Unions.

Clause 5.—Prevents the exclusion from membership of the University of any person, student or teacher on the sole ground of sex, race, creed or class and provides for the giving of religious instruction to those not unwilling to receive it.

Clause 6.—Provides for the concentration of University and First-grade colleges at certain centres. The clause does not apply to colleges existing at the time of the commencement of the Act.

CHAPTER III.

Clause 8.—Names the officers of the University.

Clause 12.—Provides for the appointment of a Vice-Chancellor. Clause 15 provides for the appointment of the first Vice-Chancellor on a salary to be fixed by the Chancellor. In the initial stages of the development of the new University there will be much organizing work to be done and a whole-time paid Vice-Chancellor will be necessary. The question whether subsequent Vice-Chancellors should be salaried officers is left to be decided by the Statutes.

Clause 13.—Provides for the appointment of a whole-time paid Registrar who shall be an officer of the University.

CHAPTER IV.

Class 14.—Names the authorities of the University.

Class 15.—Provides for the constitution of a representative Senate. In it, in addition to nominated and ex officio members, provision is made for persons elected by the Registered graduates, by the Academic Council, by the non-official members of the Legislative Council of Madras, by the headmasters of secondary schools in the University area, by the headholders of the University area, by the municipalities and district boards in the University area and by donors of sums to the University.

Class 16.—Enumerates the powers of the Senate. These powers include the rights to institute and maintain University colleges, hostels, libraries and laboratories.

Class 19.—Mentions the powers and duties of the Syndicate. These powers include the right to appoint teachers of the University on the recommendation of committees of selection and the right to appoint, suspend and dismiss servants of the University.

Class 25 (2) (a).—Empowers the Academic Council to appoint a standing committee and to delegate to it all or any of its functions. A standing committee of the Academic Council is necessary in order to deal with such questions as the grant of exemptions, etc.

CHAPTER VI.

Class 32.—Provides for the control by the University of all teaching within the University.

Class 33.—Sets out the conditions governing admission to University courses.

CHAPTER VIII.

Class 36.—Provides for the maintenance, under the University, of a college providing advanced courses of instruction in scientific and technical subjects.

CHAPTER X.

Class 44.—Provides for the completion, by students of the University, of courses of study commenced before the coming into force of this Act and for the examination of such students by the Madras University.

Clause 16.—Provides for the appointment of the first Registrar of the University by the Chancellor on a salary to be fixed by him. This clause is necessitated by the fact that a Registrar will be necessary immediately on the commencement of the University and some time must necessarily elapse before the Syndicate is formed and is in a position to appoint a Registrar.

Fort St. George, July 31, 1833.

NY 102--in his letter NY C.G. 16, dated 22nd July 1955, the Assistant General Counsel brought to the attention of Government that the Chief Controlling Officers' accounts for April and May 1955 due on the 26th May and 24th June 1955 respectively under paragraph 9 of G.O. No. 110, Mysore, dated 11th February 1955, have, in most cases, been received by him long after the due date. In most cases these delays appear to have been due to the late supply of forms and delay in issue of subsidiary instructions by the Chief Controlling Officers and the consequent delay in the receipt of amounts from the subordinate officers. It is hoped that the initial delay is peculiar to this year and that Chief Controlling Officers will be able to submit their accounts in conformity to the due dates in the future months, so as to delete and defuse the sources of the delays.

No. 340-S.—In the draft rules published with this Department Notification No. 316-S, dated the 18th July 1925, the following corrections shall be made, namely:—

1. In clause (i) of draft rule XXXIII, for the words and figures "sub-rule (i) of rule XXX" was "sub-rule (i) of rule XXXI".

2. In line 3 of draft rule XXXIV, for the word "the" read "to".

No. 515-S.—Read letter No. 30-E-55, dated the 3rd April 1925, from the Government of Burma, Finance and Revenue Department.

(2) Letter No. 229, dated the 22nd May 1925, from the Government of Madras, Finance (Marine) Department.

(3) Letter No. 2166-Mex., dated the 26th August 1925, from the Government of Bengal, Marine Department.

(4) Letter No. 1299 Q, dated the 12th February 1925, from the Government of Bombay, Marine Department, with their respective statements replying to Government of India, Commerce Department, letter No. 4371, dated the 4th November 1924, as the subject of the recommendations made in the report of the Deck Passenger Committee, 1924.

1. This resolution relates to those portions of the report of the Deck Passenger Committee, 1924, which deal with the classification of voyages as long and short and with the minimum amount of space to be allotted to deck passengers under the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1923.

2. The Deck Passenger Committee and the maritime Local Governments are agreed that the present rules require amendment, but there is no unanimity as to the details of the changes needed. The Government of India have accordingly formulated their provisional recommendations in the draft notification attached to this resolution. The rules now issued embody the principle of further subdivisions of voyages which are now classed as short and provide for an increase in space accommodation. The maritime Local Governments will be requested to report, for inclusion in a special schedule, short voyages of less than 12 hours' duration between adjacent ports, for which they advise special space allowances.

3. The space allowances have been expressed in the present form, viz., common space plus an extra space for each between-deck passenger. A flat rate of space allowance, which would have the appearance of simplicity, is open to the objection that it would make it appear permissible to carry passengers between-decks without providing them access to the upper deck, where ventilation is best.

4. Any suggestions as to the draft notification should be received by the Government of India before November 1st.

David Nigamdas.

In exercise of the powers conferred by section 192 of the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1923 (XXXI of 1923) and in pursuance of the notification of the Government of India in the title

Y. PANDRANG ROW,
Deputy Secretary to Government.

Port St. George, August 11, 1933.

No. 481.—The following Government Order is published:—

G.O. No. 433 W, issued 4th July 1933.

It has been brought to the notice of Government that the procedure prescribed in paragraphs 456 to 471 of the Public Works Account Code regarding the accounting for and the recovery of expenditure on deposit works incurred in the Public Works Department on behalf of local bodies requires modification in view of the orders issued in G.O. No. 2135, L. & M., dated 27th September 1933, encouraging local bodies to deal in far as possible with the Imperial or other approved bank. It has been decided with the concurrence of the Accountant-General that the procedure prescribed in paragraphs 462 to 466 of the Public Works Account Code as modified in the Annexure should be followed in future. Paragraphs 467 to 471 will be deleted.

ANNEXURE

CHAPTER XV.—NON-GOVERNMENT WORKS.

B. DEPOSIT WORKS.

1. General.

462. When a deposit work is to be carried out the local body or other party concerned should advance the gross estimated expenditure or the share which is payable by it, to the Divisional Officer in one lump sum, or in instalments and by such dates as may be specially authorized by a competent authority subject to the control of the local government—vide paragraph 383 of the Public Works Department Code. When payment in instalments is authorized owing to the difficulty of depositing the full estimated amount in advance in the case of larger works, the Divisional Officer should forward his probable requirements on each such work for the succeeding month and apply to the local bodies concerned. For funds and the latter should without delay pay the instalments to the Divisional Officer. The amount received should be credited in the accounts to the head "Public Works Deposits" against which will be charged all expenditure incurred up to the amount of the deposit. As regards the expenditure in excess of deposit, see paragraph 416.

1. If preferred, the local body concerned may be authorized to pay the deposit direct into the treasury. In this case, the accompanying statement should state clearly that the amount is creditable to the Public Works Department, naming the division and the work in which the deposit relates.

2. In the case of a local body which has not withdrawn its balances from the Government treasury, it may be authorized to draw a cheque on the treasury in favour of the Executive Engineer and this will be paid at the treasury by transfer credit to the Executive Engineer's account (Public Works Deposits). Similarly, for the unspent balances the Executive Engineer will draw a cheque in favour of the head body by transfer credit to the deposits of local funds.

463. A consolidated record of the transactions of a month relating to all Deposit works of the division should be prepared in form GO, Schedule of Deposit Works. This schedule shows, in respect of each work, the amount of deposit received and the expenditure incurred, both during the month and up to date.

1. Schedules of unexpended balances of completed works should be taken in reduction of the deposits and, therefore, shown in the schedule as more realizations and not as expenditures.

464. The amount of each deposit should be suitably divided into two parts, one representing the share available for works expenditure and the other the total amount chargeable as establishment, tool and plant and audit and accounts charges, if any, recoverable under the rules—vide Appendix 7. In the schedule, the deposit received for each work should be considered as a single item, but the transactions relating to the two parts of it should be shown separately, thus:—

For Works expenditure.

For percentage charges.

465. The percentage leviable should be adjusted month by month as the works expenditure is incurred, but the Accountant-General may authorize the adjustment to be made once a year in the accounts of March, provided that if the accounts of a work are closed in an earlier month the adjustment must be made in that month.

II. District Fund Works and Municipal, Cantonment and Port Trust Fund Works.

466. The procedure prescribed in paragraphs 462 to 465 above will apply.

467-471.—Cancelled.

[Loans and Grants—Applications of local bodies every year—Instructions issued.]

No. 313.—In partial modification of G.O. No. 446, L. & M., dated 19th February 1923, published in Part I-A of the Port St. George Gazette, dated 27th February 1923, the following instructions are issued for the submission of applications for grants and loans by local boards and municipal councils for capital expenditure in any year.

1. (i) Applications for grants for sanctioned schemes for which Government have already promised grants and which are required in any financial year should be submitted so as to reach the Government not later than the 1st September in the previous year.

(ii) Applications for grants for schemes for which the Government have not definitely promised a grant should be submitted so as to reach Government by the 1st October of the year preceding that in which the grants are required.

(iii) Applications for loans should be submitted so as to reach Government not later than 1st October of the previous year.

3. Applications received after the due dates are liable to be summarily rejected. Presidents of district boards are informed that the applications for grants and loans from local boards in the district which are ready should not be delayed on account of the non-submission in time of the applications of any other boards in the district.

4. Before applying for a Provincial grant or loan for a work, the local body concerned should prepare preliminary sketch plans and statements of probable costs based in the case of buildings on cubic feet or plinth area rates and submit them to the authority whose technical sanction will be necessary for the detailed plans and estimates of the work, and obtain provisional approval of them. A copy of the rememora of such authority on the preliminary plans and estimates should be forwarded to the Government by the local body along with its application for a loan or grant for the work. Detailed plans and estimates need not be prepared nor the technical sanction of the competent authority obtained until the local body obtains an assurance from the Government that there is a reasonable chance of a Provincial grant or loan being provided for the work. No local body can expect its application to be complied with unless these conditions are fulfilled.

5. As soon as the Government inform a local body that the grant or loan applied for is likely to be sanctioned, it should prepare detailed plans and estimates for the work concerned and obtain the technical sanction of the competent authority therefor without delay. In any case no definite guarantee as to funds being provided in the civil budget estimate for any year can be given until after the Legislative Council passes the civil budget estimate.

6. The total cost of schemes, the recurring and non-recurring expenditure involved and the year or years over which expenditure is likely to be spread should be indicated in the applications. Local bodies are also requested to explain clearly whether they will be able to meet the annuity for the loan applied for and if so the source from which it will be met. Applications for grants for schemes for which grants are not ordinarily admissible will not be entertained. In the case of works for which half grants are ordinarily admissible information should be furnished as to how the remaining half of the cost will be met.
